Information on The NC Soil and Water Conservation Districts Directory

Introduction

North Carolina is divided up into 100 counties and concurrently 96 Soil and Water Conservation Districts. These conservation districts operate under the authority of North Carolina G.S. 139 – The Soil and Water Conservation District Law, as well as some of the state's other general statutes.

Conservation Districts are responsible for stewardship of Natural Resources in the state, including; water, soil, trees, wildlife and the air. Each district has a board of district supervisors who are public officials. These officials are complemented in each county in various combinations of employees of the county and district, as well as state and federal government agencies. Those agencies being the DENR, Division of Soil & Water Conservation and the USDA, Natural Resources Conservation Service. In addition many other natural resource agencies on the county, state and federal levels support this effort as a part of a strong conservation partnership.
